Outreach and communication

Outreach

˝ is an activity of providing information to populations who might not otherwise have access to this information

˝ explains the benefits of research to a larger public (the tax payers who fund your research) there is an engagement and a two-way communication between the researcher and the public

˝ includes school presentations, workshops, public talks and lab visits, etc.

Communication

˝ refers to articles in mainstream newspapers and magazines, or on TV and radio channels

˝ requires a clear language and attractive scientific subject with outstanding results that can catch the media's attention

Dissemination targets a scientific audience that may be interested in the research results
