FRONTEX – ROLE IN IBM

Whereas the regular monitoring of the EU's external border remains the sole responsibility of Member States, the role of Frontex is focused on coordinating the deployment of additional technical experts and equipment for the areas of external border, with significant irregular migration pressure.

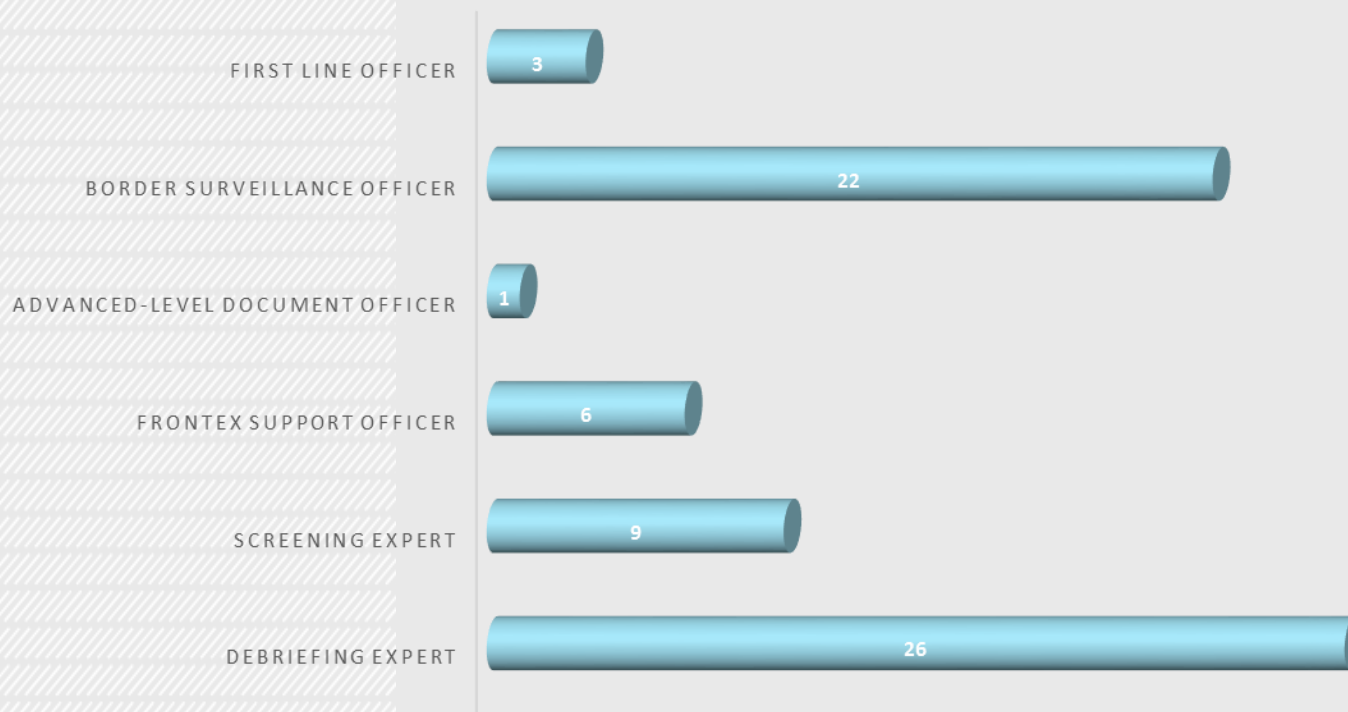

Frontex also reinforces the capacity of Member States with regard to training and exchange of good practices.

The Frontex joint operations are planned and developed, based on an annual risk analysis, which analyzes the risk probabilities in terms of illegal immigration and cross-border crime, along the EU's external borders.

According to this risk analysis the Agency establishes priorities, for joint operations in order to ensure effective operational response.
